

World War II Memorial

In 2001 and 2002, Soil Safe received and recycled over 150,000 tons of contaminated soil excavated during the construction of the World War II memorial at the National Mall in Washington DC.

The memorial was funded primarily by private contributions. The fund-raising campaign was led by National Chairman and decorated veteran Senator Bob Dole. Soil Safe gave reduced price to support the project which was completed and dedicated in 2004.
